STATEMENT FROM MAYOR STEPHANIE A. MINER ON PRESIDENTIAL EXECUTIVE ACTION ON SANCTUARY CITIES

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – Mayor Stephanie A. Miner issued the following statement today following President Donald J. Trump’s executive order attempting to pull funding from sanctuary cities.

“The resources of the City of Syracuse, including the Syracuse Police Department, are not being used to enforce federal anti-immigrant policies nor are they empowered to do so. We do not intend to change this practice and will scrutinize any proposed changes at the federal level thoroughly. I pledge we will continue Syracuse’s commitment to our New American residents, building the trust and relationships our neighbors deserve and continue to treat them with the dignity and respect they deserve. Syracuse is now and always will be a City that bids you welcome.”
