MAYOR MINER RECOGNIZES COMMUNITY SERVICE

Participating in Mayors' Day of Recognition for National Service, Miner Honors Hundreds of Local AmeriCorps and Senior Corps Volunteers

Miner: Proud to Recognize Those Who Give Back

“I am proud to recognize the men and women who give back to our community,” said Mayor Miner. “Only through the efforts of an engaged citizenry do we make a strong quality of life in our city possible. “

Volunteers from AmeriCorps and Senior Corps support local organizations including including the United Way, Catholic Charities, the Northside Urban Partnership, L’Arche, the American Red Cross, the Syracuse Community Health Center, Interfaith Works, and the PEACE Incorporated Foster Grandparent program.

The ceremony at the United Way headquarters on James Street was attended by many of the participating volunteers. It was done as part of the Mayors’ Day of Recognition organized by the Corporation for National and Community Service, the National League of Cities, Cities of Service, and the United States Conference of Mayors.
