MINER ANNOUNCES NEW POLICE SUBSTATION
COMING TO HAWLEY-GREEN NEIGHBORHOOD

SYRACUSE, N.Y. – Mayor Stephanie A. Miner announced today a new police substation will open in the Hawley-Green neighborhood in the coming weeks. Mayor Miner made the announcement during a visit to a community picnic held at the Clinton Play lot sponsored by the Northeast Hawley Development Association (NEHDA).

“The neighbors of Hawley-Green have done a great job improving the quality of life in this community,” said Syracuse Mayor Stephanie A. Miner. “This police substation is the City’s part of that effort. We look forward to having an expanded presence in the neighborhood.”

The police substation will be located in an office in the NEHDA headquarters at 101 Gertrude Street. One officer will be permanently assigned to the facility while other officers will have access to the space on a regular basis. Police officers will be able to use this space to write reports and have a larger physical presence in the area. The office is expected to open in several weeks.
